Darul Quran seeks new strategic partners

Last update: 11/08/2018

KUALA KUBU BAHARU, Aug 11 (Bernama) -- The Darul Quran will seek new strategic partners among local universities to enable its tahfiz graduates to continue their studies in various fields offered at the institutions of higher learning.

Minister in the Prime Minister's Department Datuk Dr Muzahid Yusof Rawa said graduates of the Darul Quran, a Quran reciting and memorising training institute under the Islamic Development Department Malaysia (Jakim), would not only be 'huffaz' (memorisers of the Quran) but also highly skilled professionals.

"For example, the strategic network between the Darul Quran and the International Islamic University Malaysia (IIUM) since 2000 has given the opportunity to the students to pursue a certificate programme at the Darul Quran and later at the IIUM in medicine, engineering, pharmacy and architecture," he said.

He said this after attending Darul Quran 27th convocation at the Muktamar Darul Quran Hall here today.

Also present was Jakim director-general Datuk Mohamad Nordin Ibrahim.....
